Ike Says Tax Cut Unneeded At This Time

President Pointing To Encouragement In U.S. Idle Totals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he sees no need for any emergency antirecession action, such as a tax cut, at this time.

Commenting on the latest unemployment figures, the President told a news conference he believes there are real grounds to conclude that one of these days the economy will be on the upgrade.

The government announced Tuesday that unemployment increased by about 25,000 in the month which ended in Mid-March. There were much larger increases during the preceding several months.

March is normally a month when employment climbs as the weather moderates and permits outdoor work.

The first question put to Eisenhower at the conference was a request for his views regarding a possible tax cut in the light of the latest unemployment figures and other economic conditions.

IN REPLY, Eisenhower first noted that Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has promised to consult with Democratic as well as Republican congressional leaders before administration takes any tax action. Then the President went on to say he sees nothing in the unemployment figures that brings the situation to a critical point and requires a decision on taxes at the moment.

Asked for comment on the fact that prices continue to climb despite the recession, Eisenhower said he has been puzzled about that, too, and did some research. He added that he found that price hikes during a business slump are not what he termed an unusual phenomenon.

On the other hand, that situation seems to be normal rather than abnormal, Eisenhower said. But he added that he still hopes (Continued on Page Two)

Khrush Says Soviet To Aid Any Satellite

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Accusing Western newsmen of twisting his words, Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared the U.S.S.R. will help stamp out any revolt that might hit Hungary or its Communist neighbors.

The Soviet boss, whose tank legions crushed Hungary's 1956 uprising, spelled out the Kremlin's position Tuesday before 40,000 Hungarians at the coal-mining center of Tatabanya, one of the last rebel strongholds to fall 18 months ago.

Khrushchev warned the West against trying to start uprisings in Communist lands on the assumption that the Soviet Union would not step in.

"If the enemies of the working class of provocateurs try to make a putsch or a counterrevolution in any Socialist country," he said, "I tell them from here that all the Socialist countries and the forces of the U.S.S.R. are ready at any moment to unite and give their help and a well-deserved answer to provocations."

"Capitalists can sleep quietly as long as the workers in their own countries will let them. We choose the way of Marx, Engels and Lenin and we advise them not to poke their noses — or as we Russians say, their pigs' snouts — into our Socialist garden."

Council Hears Hargus Creek Arguments; Doesn't Decide

City Council heard the same old arguments for and against the Hargus Creek rezoning last night at a public hearing in City Council Chambers.

About 37 interested persons were on hand for the hearing. Council did not vote on the proposal. The ordinance will come before the body for first reading next Tuesday.

The hearing lasted about an hour and 42 minutes. Both proponents and opponents spoke and gave rebuttal arguments.

Council has been asked to rezone the area from Class A residential to Class C commercial so that a Kroger supermarket can be built there.

The area is bounded by Hargus Creek on the south, N. Pickaway St. on the east, Kimmel Alley on the north and Spring Alley in the west. It contains about nine acres.

SPEAKING FOR these in favor of the rezoning was George Young, local attorney, and Gladden Troutman, 155 E. Union St.

Young summarized the reasons for rezoning the area, in a 19-minute talk. He said the area is unimproved, not adapted to residential building, suitable for a supermarket. He said the investors will have a good deal of money in the proposal and that they won't allow it to become anything but a good, clean property.

He pointed out that the builder will take a deed with restrictions so that there would be no night clubs in the area. At the end of his talk 13 persons in the audience stood in favor of the rezoning.

Judge William Ammer, speaking as a resident of the area and not as Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge, spoke for an hour against the rezoning.

Judge Ammer started his argument by saying he would disqualify himself if the present rezoning matter ever came before the court. He then asked Councilman D. J. Carpenter, a proponent of the measure, to disqualify himself from the voting since he is an owner of land involved.

Judge Ammer pointed out that this is the fourth time the matter has come up. He asked why Kroger would want to locate in an area where it was not wanted.

The judge then went over the 10 reasons given by the City Zoning and Planning Commission for turning down approval of the rezoning. In brief they are:

THE AREA would be a traffic hazard for school children, purpose of the zoning law is to protect homes, there is sufficient commercial area in the city to build the supermarket without additional rezoning, monetary gain is no reason to rezone, present zoning ordinance doesn't stipulate adequately the type of business that can go into a commercial area, it would be a dangerous precedent, recent annexation provides sufficient commercial area, the property values in the area would decrease, N. Court St. properties have increased in value since opening of the bypass and the commercial area would jeopardize the gain.

Judge Ammer then went into detail in explaining the 10 reasons. He added that the area has been sought by builders who wish to put residences on the land. He concluded by asking Council to follow the Gold Rule.

Also speaking against the ordinance were Mrs. Anna Claridge, 448 N. Court St., and Darrell Hatfield, executive secretary of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

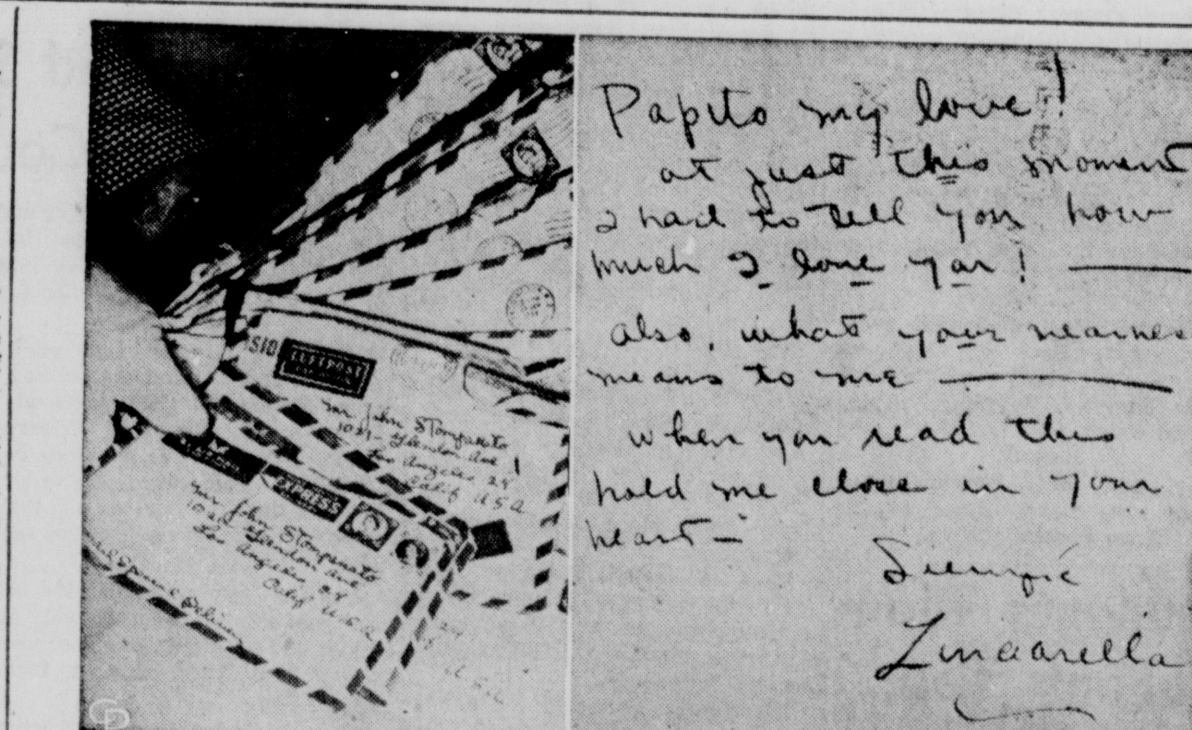

About 14 persons stood against the passage of the ordinance when the arguments were completed.

Businesswoman Is Hammer Victim

CINCINNATI (AP) — A woman shoe store operator, savagely beaten with a claw hammer Tuesday in a critical condition today in Jewish Hospital.

The victim, Mrs. Della Klieber, 37, underwent brain surgery Tuesday night and hospital attendants said her right side is paralyzed.

Meanwhile, police hunted for a young Negro, apparently about 18 to 20 years old, who was seen in the store a few minutes before Mrs. Klieber was found.

Lana Turner Mum on Torrid Love Notes Sent Boy Friend

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lana Turner was mum today on publication of her torrid love letters to Johnny Stompanato, handsome underworld figure slain by the actress' daughter.

Six letters, published Tuesday, began with such endearing salutations as "Daddy darling" and "Dearest precious heart."

Her attorney said it would be unethical for Miss Turner to issue statements of any kind while her daughter Cheryl, 14, faces a juvenile court hearing.

Cheryl stabbed Stompanato to death last Friday night during a fiery quarrel between the 38-year-old actress and her curly-haired boy friend.

Portions of letters written last fall and winter while Miss Turner, married and divorced four times, was in Europe:

From Copenhagen, Sept. 19, 1957 — "My dearest darling love. All I want to write and say is that I love you! G-I! It was so wonderful to hear your voice again Daddy! Already it seems like months we've been apart. Anyway, sweet love, remember how much you mean to me and please, please be careful."

"I HAVE SO many things whirling around in my brain, to write to you—bear with me precious love, the next letter has to be longer and longer—I promise! Until then—keep your arms around me so close—and kiss me as I do you a thousand times—so keep well beloved! Because I do worry so—try to eat and sleep—for me? Please. Love you—love you—daci (Italian for kisses) signed Lanita."

Miss Turner remained in seclusion Tuesday. Her press agent said: "Miss Turner is in a very bad way. She's not holding up well at all."

In Chicago, Stompanato's brother Carmine, a barber, said he wants Miss Turner to take a lie detector test.

"Maybe if Miss Turner agrees to the lie test, we can find out what really happened," he said.

Carmine said he found it difficult to believe that his brother, a husky ex-combat Marine, could be stabbed by a 14-year-old girl. Carmine said he believes his brother was asleep when he was killed.

News Briefs

GENEVA (AP) — The World Conference on the Law of the Sea agreed today on a new principle of international law giving government-owned ships immunity from the jurisdiction of other nations only when operating on noncommercial government service.

Approval of the U.S. proposal represented defeat for the Soviet bloc, which demanded permanent immunity for the large merchant fleets owned and operated by Communist governments.

The new article states that ships owned or operated by a state and used only on government non-commercial service shall, when on the high seas, have complete immunity from the jurisdiction of any state other than the flag state.

The treaty, when it is completed, is binding on a nation only after it ratifies it.

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — A strike of 200,000 West German steelworkers was tentatively called off today when union leaders accepted a compromise wage hike equivalent to 2.6 cents.

Under the new offer actual hourly earnings will average 75.1 cents. The average now is 72.5.

JERUSALEM (AP) — The United Arab Republic has agreed to Israel's completing a drainage ditch in the Lake Huleh area over which the Israelis and Arabs duelled with tanks and artillery last week.

Work began again under armed guard and U. N. supervision. The ditch was moved about five yards west.

Dem Senator Seeks Action On Recession

Unemployment Tally Still Bad News, So Says Minnesotan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today the latest employment report still shows a need for reasonable recession remedies instead of reliance on hope and faith.

"It's good to receive less bad news than we had before — but it's still not good news," he said of a government job report for March.

The report showed that unemployment increased by 25,000 to 5,198,000 and employment rose by 323,000 to 62,311,000. Humphrey said even so small a jobless increase was disheartening because there is normally a substantial unemployment decline in March.

President Eisenhower said the figures showed a pickup in jobs and a leveling off in unemployment indicating "a slowing up of the decline" in business.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said he has felt all along the recession would be short-lived and believes it hit bottom in March. He predicted employment would be back to normal by year-end.

AFL-CIO President George Meany viewed the new job figures as indicating a deepening recession. He said "there isn't a single ray of sunshine" in the economic picture when one considers continuing drops in manufacturing orders, retail sales, industrial production and consumer income.

In New York, Secretary of Commerce Weeks predicted more employment and less unemployment for April.

"By this I do not mean we are out of the woods," Weeks added, "just that the trend has started in the right direction."

Rep. Reuss (D-Wis.) said the March job picture requires immediate action by Congress on a tax cut, expanded unemployment compensation benefits and increased Social Security payments.

Congress returns Monday from a 10-day Easter recess.

Humphrey said steel production and freight carloadings both continued declining in March, and added: "We would be well advised to proceed with an antirecession (Continued on Page Two)

Thief Hides Meat In His Long Johns

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A man carrying two packages of pork steak inside his long underwear was cut on the leg as a supermarket operator tried to retrieve the meat with a butcher knife.

Police said Marvin Gray, 39, was stopped in the store and admitted having the packages.

But Gray and two store employees couldn't get the meat out. So they decided to cut the underwear leg.

In the process Gray suffered a three-inch cut on the left leg above the ankle. He was treated at a hospital, then jailed.

Rebels Grab Radio Station, Sound Appeal

Communications Aides, Ban Workers Start Walkout; Shots Heard

HAVANA (AP) — A general strike against the government of Cuban President Fulgencio Batista appeared to be underway today.

Cuban rebels seized Cuba's largest radio and television station and broadcast an appeal for sympathizers to rise in arms and fight against Batista.

The rebels called for an immediate general strike. Soon afterward workers in the telephone company and other utilities began leaving their jobs and communications were crippled.

Shooting began at 11:30 a. m. in the waterfront district near the Banco Continental. This is the San Isidro district in the old part of Havana.

The firing rapidly spread to other sections of the city.

Rebel forces also seized an arms shop.

MOST BANKS in Havana closed and in others employees suddenly quit work.

Most of the heart of the city appeared to be calm and there was no sign of rebel activity around the presidential palace or key government buildings.

In the American-owned First National City Bank about half the employees walked out.

Two heavy bomb explosions occurred at noon.

Rebels set fire to the headquarters of radio station CMQ, one of the largest in Latin America. The building also houses CMQ's TV station. The building is situated near the Hotel Nacional in the western part of the city.

Troops and police were rushed to the areas where fighting was underway.

The rebels had secretly passed the word just before dawn that the push in Havana would start at 9 a. m. But later the time was set for 11:30 a. m., and the shooting started then.

Telephone service within most of Havana was interrupted.

There was no communication with the rest of Cuba. Electric (Continued on Page Two)

Ohio Idle Pay List Shows First Decline

COLUMBUS (AP) — For the first time in months, the number of Ohioans collecting jobless benefits dropped last week, the Bureau of unemployment compensation reported today.

As of last Saturday, the number of continuing claims was 211,057, a decrease of 4,809 from the previous week.

At the same time, however, the BUC reported an increase in the number of new claims filed. New claims last week numbered 27,197, a jump of almost exactly 4,000 over the previous week.

There had been an unbroken succession of weekly increases in the number of continuing claims since last fall until today's report.

The number of jobless benefits recipients declined in several major employment areas. The areas and the approximate declines in each: Canton 500; Cincinnati 150; Cleveland 1,700; Columbus 180; Dayton 300, and Toledo 1,400.

There were relatively small increases in the number of continuing claims in the Akron and Youngstown areas.

Elsewhere in Ohio last week, there were no major fluctuations in the number of continuing claims except in Springfield where the number receiving benefits dropped 800 and in Warren where the number dropped 550.

Commissioners Disapprove of New State Law

Spokesman Says Act Hampering Efforts To Curb Recession

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — County commissioners claim an enactment by the last Legislature is hampering efforts to end the recession.

The new law was intended to help real estate developers and builders of homes outside municipalities by changing the method of financing water and sewer lines.

But a legal quirk in the act, effective last Sept. 17, has the opposite effect in most of Ohio's 88 counties, says George W. Taylor, executive secretary of the County Commissioners Assn.

Taylor, who calls home building a major segment in a stable economy, is a Madison County commissioner. He explains the problem, especially pressing in suburban areas, this way:

Attorneys who approve the form of bond issues cite changes in the financing laws for water and sewer projects. These changes, they say, cast doubt on the legality of assessments to pay off bonds. In turn, this makes the bonds unmarketable. Without a market for water and sewer bonds, much building outside municipalities is stymied.

"The extension of sewer lines by county commissioners is and will be at a standstill until the newly revised laws are changed or a court decision throws out recent amendments to sewer financing laws," Taylor says.

"County commissioners have been told by bond buyers' counsels that they will not approve revenue bonds under existing law."

The new law was advocated by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and others to relieve farm land of per foot assessments to pay for installation of sewer lines.

Under the old law, commissioners could assess benefiting property owners for the full cost of sewer installations. Heavy assessments, in some instances exceeding $20,000 a farm, resulted in legislative changes.

The new law provides for such assessments to pay half the cost of construction, and rentals from users to pay the balance. Those rentals were in addition to regular rents to cover the cost of maintenance and operation.

Legality of the 50-50 amendment is questioned by bond counsels. So long as the question remains, there is no market for such sewer project bonds and urgently needed construction remains stalled generally.

Ashtabula County officials have asked Atty. Gen. William Saxbe for a ruling on the new law in the hope the question of legality will be resolved. If the opinion fails to solve the dilemma, Taylor said court action may be necessary unless a special session of the Legislature solves the problem.

Gov. C. William O'Neill has indicated that he has no immediate plans to call a special session.

Harry Kiefaber, Montgomery County commissioner and chairman of the association's sewer and water committee, says his county is hard hit by the new law.

"Montgomery County commissioners, along with County Administrator John McHugh, have exhausted every means available to keep their sewer extension program progressing," says Kiefaber. He warned that court action or a special session to interpret or change the new law will take considerable time.

"If this problem is not solved before the next session of the Legislature," he adds, "It will be a year before developers can be serviced with sewer lines by county commissioners."

"Needless to say, a segment of the economy of Ohio is going to suffer because development in county sewer districts is at a standstill."

Bullet Ends Life Of Logan Area Bear

LOGAN (AP) — A 250-pound black bear, which no one seemed to want, was killed Tuesday by an official of the Ohio Division of Wildlife. It was feared the animal might injure someone.

The bear, believed to have been a pet, was discovered last Thursday roaming in wooded hill country near Ash Cave Park 15 miles southwest of here. He ate from people's hands and did tricks for news photographers.

Several zoos turned down offers to take the animal, so wildlife officials ordered him destroyed with a rifle bullet.

Commissioners Disapprove of New State Law

Spokesman Says Act Hampering Efforts To Curb Recession

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — County commissioners claim an enactment by the last Legislature is hampering efforts to end the recession.

The new law was intended to help real estate developers and builders of homes outside municipalities by changing the method of financing water and sewer lines.

But a legal quirk in the act, effective last Sept. 17, has the opposite effect in most of Ohio's 88 counties, says George W. Taylor, executive secretary of the County Commissioners Assn.

Taylor, who calls home building a major segment in a stable economy, is a Madison County commissioner. He explains the problem, especially pressing in suburban areas, this way:

Attorneys who approve the form of bond issues cite changes in the financing laws for water and sewer projects. These changes, they say, cast doubt on the legality of assessments to pay off bonds. ## Americans Saving Money

In 1956 the nation's mutual savings banks were the depositories of nearly one-seventh of all the funds Americans had piled up in the nation's banks. The rise and fall of so sizable pool of cash should indicate what Americans are doing with their money.

Now the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks reveals that during February, when mutual bank withdrawals dropped 9 per cent below the same month last year, deposits throughout the country were $149 million higher for a record $32 billion. Some of this increase can be attributed to the 40,000 new accounts established during the month, for a grand total of 22 million. However, the association interprets the February showing as a continuation of the upsurge in deposits that began in 1957.

This trend toward stepped-up savings

coincided with the economic hiatus. Now, with the backlog of consumer buying power estimated to be in excess of $28 billion, many will think back to a recent observation by President Eisenhower. He said Washington cannot reverse economic conditions singlehanded. He pointed out that the nation's industry must supply much of the fuel itself.

The same observation might apply to the people of the country. No one is entitled to tell anybody else that he should spend rather than save, yet it appears that many persons—as the result of economic fright or in the hope of buying cheaper later—are staying out of the consumer market. They are not helping matters. And a reversal could well be enough to put the weight needed behind the wheel and start the economy moving forward.

Shift Made in Saudi Arabia

The West, which has had to bear up under one piece of bad news after another in the oil-rich Middle East since Nasser's seizure of Suez, has another one to worry about.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia, a good friend of the West and one of the principal restraining forces on the rampant ruler of Egypt, has turned over some of his powers to his brother, Crown Prince Faisal.

This is an extraordinary occurrence in a feudal kingdom where the monarch has absolute power of life and death over every subject. What makes it still more extraordinary is the extent of Saud's delegation of authority. Faisal is to have complete power over Saudi Arabia's internal, foreign, and financial policies, which indicates that he—rather than Saud—will shape the future of the state.

It is a little early to say what this portends, but it certainly bodes no particular good for the West. Faisal is likely to shift toward a policy of neutrality in the East-West struggle and this may bring closer relations with Egypt than in the recent past.

Don't Marry Son of the Boss

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman who operates a $100 million-a-year business gave this success tip today to aspiring young secretaries:

"Don't concentrate on marrying the son of the boss. Instead, learn the job of the boss."

Blue-eyed Miss Catherine L. O'Brien, a pleasantly stout and cheerful woman, followed her own advice.

One of seven children of an Irish electrician, she went to work at 17. In 1931, she quit a good-paying job as secretary for an insurance firm to help the late Frank Stanley Beveridge found the Stanley Home Products in Westfield, Mass.

The first year it did a business of only $72,000.

"I had to learn the boss' business, because I had to help in everything," recalled Miss O'Brien. "In addition to typing letters, I learned to do the buying, keep the books, help supervise manufacture and distribution."

"I even put the handles in the brushes we sold, and packed the orders."

Rung by rung she climbed the ladder. In 1951 she became president of the firm. With the help of only one vice president (a man), Miss O'Brien now directs some 4,000 employees and 25,000 dealers (mostly housewives) across the nation.

Her annual income from salary and investments is more than $100,000.

She has little trouble dealing with her own male executives, and explained with a smile:

"I'm in a fortunate position. I hired most of them myself over the years."

Here are some of her thoughts on women in industry:

"It is definitely harder for a woman to get ahead in business than for a man. Any woman who wants to get ahead must realize and accept this, and go on from there."

"In dealing with men, a woman should never be domineering. Men are dominated by women all their lives—by mothers, teachers, wives. They think women are always carrying. Give them praise instead. They blossom with appreciation. A word of praise can often get you over a tight situation faster than all the logic of Aristotle."

Recently it was discovered that some cases of progressive myopia can be arrested by wearing contact lenses. Progressive myopia is a form of nearsightedness which becomes worse from year to year.

A two-year study of 1,400 persons who had steadily increasing myopia showed that none of the cases became worse after the patients were fitted with corneal lenses, a type of contacts. Moreover, some actually showed signs of slight improvement.

Similar results have been reported in surveys conducted in Europe.

Contact lenses are not new, but they have become popular only in the last few years. As a matter of fact, the idea of contacts was originated by Leonardo da Vinci, according to authorities on glasses and visual troubles. That was way back in 1508.

But da Vinci's idea never got very far and the first contact lenses were not produced and used until 1887.

Of course many improvements have been made since then. And now some 3,000,000 Americans are wearing contacts. This number is a tremendous increase over the 200,000 who were wearing them just eight years ago in 1950.

The greatest increase has occurred during the last couple of years. In 1956 alone, the number of persons wearing contact lenses increased 25 per cent.

As might be suspected, women wear about 67 per cent of the contacts. And 60 per cent of these women are between the ages of 15 and 25. Seems as though many girls don't want to wear regular spectacles when they are in the market for a husband. I guess it has something to do with the theory that "Men never make passes at girls who wear glasses"—which, of course, is a lot of nonsense.

Different individuals have different reasons for preferring contact lenses. For some, it's simply a matter of appearance. Others who are active in industrial work or in the sports field, appreciate the protection and convenience of contacts.

If you are interested in contact lenses, check with an eye specialist to determine whether they will benefit you before ordering them.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's taken four months, eight letters and three notes to wake up to the idea it might be smarter to answer the Soviets a little faster.

The Soviets have been giving the administration a propaganda clubbing and Tuesday Secretary of State Dulles said the administration was trying to "speed up its operations" so the Soviets will not have the play all to themselves so long.

Last fall the Soviets scored an overwhelming propaganda victory by launching their Sputniks. It took this country months to get its own satellites aloft.

Last December the Soviets started making more propaganda for themselves. On Dec. 10 Premier Bulganin, in a letter to President Eisenhower, represented the Soviet Union as a big peace-lover that wanted negotiations and a summit talk to straighten things out.

It took Eisenhower more than a month to answer. In that time the Soviet Union stood before the world as the one proposing peaceful negotiations while this country tried to think up an answer.

Eisenhower finally wrote Bulganin Jan. 12. But by that time Bulganin had sent him another letter. This was Jan. 8. On Jan. 20 Eisenhower answered Bulganin's second letter with a 40-word note.

Bulganin sent another letter

Feb. 1. It took Eisenhower 14 days to answer that one.

On Feb. 28 the Soviets sent a note—not a letter from Bulganin—on a summit get-together. The United States answered this March 6. But the next day, March 7, Bulganin sent Eisenhower another letter. And on March 24 the Soviets answered the American note with a second note of their own.

Meanwhile Bulganin was fading from the picture. Nikita Khrushchev became premier. Very quickly the Soviets made another propaganda score.

With the whole world worried about nuclear tests, the Soviets announced they would stop their nuclear tests. This time the State Department was ready and fired off an answer immediately.

Then on Friday Khrushchev sent Eisenhower a note on stopping nuclear tests. Eisenhower answered him Monday. Dulles—when he appeared before his news conference Tuesday—seemed proud Eisenhower had answered so fast: within four days, which included the Easter holidays. Dulles has publicly acknowledged the Soviets have been knocking over propaganda pants off. Even Eisenhower at his news conference last week admitted maybe we could have handled ourselves better.

He tossed out the idea of putting a psychological war expert into the State Department. But Dulles is boss there. He runs it pretty much as a one-man show. And at his news conference Tuesday he brushed aside the Eisenhower idea.

He said this country can't indulge in the kind of propaganda the Soviets use, and went on to explain the State Department's attitude now on the Soviet notes. He said: "I think on the whole that it is important to deal with these things quickly. I think that what we did over the Easter weekend is a demonstration that at least in one respect we are trying to speed up our operations so as not to give the Soviet propaganda line a free run for so long a time as has often been the case in the past."

"I do believe that as a result of experience that we are improving our techniques somewhat... in terms of trying to get our viewpoint more quickly and more effectively."

One question comes to mind: Why has it taken the State Department so long—and how much experience does it need—to realize it's not smart to let the Soviets make propaganda while we hem and haw on what to do?

Probers Continue Check on Crash

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP)—The cause of an Easter night plane crash in which 47 persons died remained a mystery today as government experts continued a painstaking probe of the wreckage.

State police and FBI investigators worked a few hundred feet from the wreckage, seeking to identify the last eight victims of the Capital Airlines Viscount crash at nearby Tri-City Airport.

Civil Aeronautics Bureau and Civil Aeronautics Administration experts were scheduled to meet today to report on their findings as to the cause of the crash.

102-Pound Woman Bears Quadruplets

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A 5-foot-1, 102-pound mother gave birth to quadruplets Tuesday. One was stillborn.

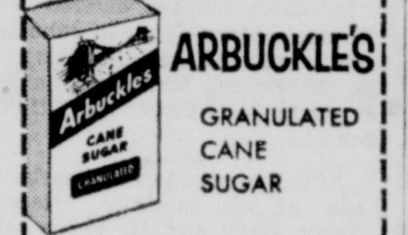

The surviving babies—all boys—were reported doing fine. They weighed 2 pounds 3 1/4 ounces; 2 pounds 4 ounces; and 2 pounds.

The births were the first for 19-year-old Gladys McGraw, wife of Ian McGraw, 22, an employee of a janitorial service.

"I'm really surprised," said McGraw, a native of Scotland. "You might say I'm in a state of shock."

• X-Rays • Weather and Blood Pressure

Q. After hearing so much about radiation injury I am almost afraid to have an x-ray. Just how harmful are such examinations?

A. Let's start from scratch and see if this business of radiation (x-rays are one form of radiation) can be put in its proper place. First, it would be best not to be exposed to radiation in any amount. But we are.

Throughout our lives we are sprinkled with radiation from natural sources as cosmic rays that filter down from outer space. Within recent years we have been exposed to a little more radiation than usual through atom bomb fallout. The total amount of natural and fallout radiation received so far is small. In fact, it is only a fraction of the amount that the average person can safely stand.

Scientists refer to this safe amount as "permissible on an allowance. You can't help spending a small part of this allowance for natural radiation. A little more might be used to have your teeth x-rayed. Still more might go for a chest x-ray or some other medical procedure. If x-ray (radiation) will help your doctor diagnose or cure some condition that troubles you, it would be foolish to refuse. The benefits far exceed the harm. Physicians are schooled in the proper use of x-ray and other radiation equipment. They employ these tools only when there is something to be gained.

Q. Are shoe-fitting x-ray machines safe?

A. It depends upon what you mean by safe. Some shoe-fitting x-ray machines are probably as safe as the manufacturer can make them—others are anything but safe. Shoes can be properly fitted without such gadgets. Why spend part of your radiation allowance for a needless procedure?

Americans Saving Money

In 1956 the nation's mutual savings banks were the depositories of nearly one-seventh of all the funds Americans had piled up in the nation's banks. The rise and fall of so sizable pool of cash should indicate what Americans are doing with their money.

Now the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks reveals that during February, when mutual bank withdrawals dropped 9 per cent below the same month last year, deposits throughout the country were $149 million higher for a record $32 billion. Some of this increase can be attributed to the 40,000 new accounts established during the month, for a grand total of 22 million. However, the association interprets the February showing as a continuation of the upsurge in deposits that began in 1957.

This trend toward stepped-up savings

coincided with the economic hiatus. Now, with the backlog of consumer buying power estimated to be in excess of $28 billion, many will think back to a recent observation by President Eisenhower. He said Washington cannot reverse economic conditions singlehanded. He pointed out that the nation's industry must supply much of the fuel itself.

The same observation might apply to the people of the country. No one is entitled to tell anybody else that he should spend rather than save, yet it appears that many persons—as the result of economic fright or in the hope of buying cheaper later—are staying out of the consumer market. They are not helping matters. And a reversal could well be enough to put the weight needed behind the wheel and start the economy moving forward.

Shift Made in Saudi Arabia

The West, which has had to bear up under one piece of bad news after another in the oil-rich Middle East since Nasser's seizure of Suez, has another one to worry about.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia, a good friend of the West and one of the principal restraining forces on the rampant ruler of Egypt, has turned over some of his powers to his brother, Crown Prince Faisal.

This is an extraordinary occurrence in a feudal kingdom where the monarch has absolute power of life and death over every subject. What makes it still more extraordinary is the extent of Saud's delegation of authority. Faisal is to have complete power over Saudi Arabia's internal, foreign, and financial policies, which indicates that he—rather than Saud—will shape the future of the state.

It is a little early to say what this portends, but it certainly bodes no particular good for the West. Faisal is likely to shift toward a policy of neutrality in the East-West struggle and this may bring closer relations with Egypt than in the recent past.

Don't Marry Son of the Boss

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman who operates a $100 million-a-year business gave this success tip today to aspiring young secretaries:

"Don't concentrate on marrying the son of the boss. Instead, learn the job of the boss."

Blue-eyed Miss Catherine L. O'Brien, a pleasantly stout and cheerful woman, followed her own advice.

One of seven children of an Irish electrician, she went to work at 17. In 1931, she quit a good-paying job as secretary for an insurance firm to help the late Frank Stanley Beverage found the Stanley Home Products in Westfield, Mass.

The first year it did a business of only $72,000.

"I had to learn the boss' business, because I had to help in everything," recalled Miss O'Brien. "In addition to typing letters, I learned to do the buying, keep the books, help supervise manufacture and distribution."

"I even put the handles in the brushes we sold, and packed the orders."

Rung by rung she climbed the ladder. In 1951 she became president of the firm. With the help of only one vice president (a man), Miss O'Brien now directs some 4,000 employees and 25,000 dealers (mostly housewives) across the nation.

Her annual income from salary and investments is more than $100,000.

She has little trouble dealing with her own male executives, and explained with a smile: "I'm in a fortunate position. I hired most of them myself over the years."

Here are some of her thoughts on women in industry:

"It is definitely harder for a woman to get ahead in business than for a man. Any woman who wants to get ahead must realize and accept this, and go on from there."

"In dealing with men, a woman should never be domineering. Men are dominated by woman all their lives—by mothers, teachers, wives. They think women are always caving. Give them praise instead. They blossom with appreciation. A word of praise can often get you over a tight situation faster than all the logic of Aristotle."

Some Persons Age Gracefully

By George Sokolsky

In this complaining world, it is good to hear something cheerful, something dignified. So I want to give you the words of Lotte Lehmann, 70, the Metropolitan Opera singer who sings no more. They are rich words and rich thoughts:

"I belong to those very blessed people who are able to live in the evening of their lives exactly as they wish. I live in great beauty of nature; and in inner harmony; and I have found a way to try to give to our young generation of singers what I have learned in a long career as a singer and performer."

"America is overflowing with talented young singers. To live vicariously in them; to sing with their voices... (since my own has completely disappeared); to live with them through their triumphs, their joys and their triumphs, that is now my life and it makes me very happy."

"Besides my main work, I have found many ways of expressing myself in new, and for me, exciting creative activities. Life is very full for me; the days have not enough hours. The only thing which is missing is time. Time runs away in a frightening tempo..."

How beautiful to approach Autumn in the spirit of Spring; to find a renewal of life's activities even in those later years when some only know of aches and complaints and egocentric dissatisfactions.

Our population is growing older because we live longer, but many older people do not know what to do with their last years. They have not filled their lives with activities and ideas and satisfactions which sustain them

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BIG STORE recently moved its book department from the main floor to larger space on the seventh. Only complaint came from a lady who had been seen "browsing" rather frequently in the old location. "Disgraceful!" she expostulated. "I only had three chapters to go in that novel I was reading, but if the management thinks I'm going to traipse all the way to the seventh floor to finish them, they're very much mistaken."

And out she stalked! Exactly 100 years ago, notes Historian Mike Connolly, one Senora Maria Rita Valdez sold her Rancho de Las Azules for $1,300: $500 down, and the balance in 50 easy payments. Well within the confines of the Senora's former ranch today nestles the entire city of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Explains a French producer after a visit to New York, "American girls and French girls both know full well what men are like—but French girls don't mind."

Contact Lenses on Increase

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Contact lenses, which have become very popular in recent years, sometimes can do more than merely enhance a person's appearance. In some instances, contacts are especially helpful in correcting visual troubles.

Recently it was discovered that some cases of progressive myopia can be arrested by wearing contact lenses. Progressive myopia is a form of nearsightedness which becomes worse from year to year.

A two-year study of 1,400 persons who had steadily increasing myopia showed that none of the cases became worse after the patients were fitted with corneal lenses, a type of contacts. More-over, some actually showed signs of slight improvement.

Similar results have been reported in surveys conducted in Europe.

Contact lenses are not new, but they have become popular only in the last few years. As a matter of fact, the idea of contacts was originated by Leonardo da Vinci, according to authorities on glasses and visual troubles. That was way back in 1508.

But da Vinci's idea never got very far and the first contact lenses were not produced and used until 1867.

Of course many improvements have been made since then. And now some 3,000,000 Americans are wearing contacts. This number is a tremendous increase over the 200,000 who were wearing them just eight years ago in 1950.

The greatest increase has occurred during the last couple of years. In 1956 alone, the number of persons wearing contact lenses increased 25 per cent.

As might be suspected, women wear about 67 per cent of the contacts. And 60 per cent of these women are between the ages of 15 and 25. Seems as though many girls don't want to wear regular spectacles when they are in the market for a husband. I guess it has something to do with the theory that "Men never make passes at girls who wear glasses"—which, of course, is a lot of nonsense.

Different individuals have different reasons for preferring contact lenses. For some, it's simply a matter of appearance. Others who are active in industrial work or in the sports field, appreciate the protection and convenience of contacts.

If you are interested in contact lenses, check with an eye specialist to determine whether they will benefit you before ordering them.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's taken the Eisenhower administration four months, eight letters and three notes to wake up to the idea it might be smarter to answer the Soviets a little faster.

The Soviets have been giving the administration a propaganda clubbing and Tuesday Secretary of State Dulles said the administration was trying to "speed up its operations" so the Soviets will not have the play all to themselves so long.

Last fall the Soviets scored an overwhelming propaganda victory by launching their Sputniks. It took this country months to get its own satellites aloft.

Last December the Soviets started making more propaganda for themselves. On Dec. 10 Premier Bulganin, in a letter to President Eisenhower, represented the Soviet Union as a big peace-lover that wanted negotiations and a summit talk to straighten things out.

It took Eisenhower more than a month to answer. In that time the Soviet Union stood before the world as the one proposing peaceful negotiations while this country tried to think up an answer.

Eisenhower finally wrote Bulganin Jan. 12. But that time Bulganin had sent him another letter. This was Jan. 8. On Jan. 20 Eisenhower answered Bulganin's second letter with a 40-word note.

Bulganin sent another letter

Feb. 1. It took Eisenhower 14 days to answer that one.

On Feb. 28 the Soviets sent a note—not a letter from Bulganin—on a summit get-together. The United States answered this March 6. But the next day, March 7, Bulganin sent Eisenhower another letter. And on March 24 the Soviets answered the American note with a second note of their own.

Meanwhile Bulganin was fading from the picture. Nikita Khrushchev became premier. Very quickly the Soviets made another propaganda score.

With the whole world worried about nuclear tests, the Soviets announced they would stop their nuclear tests. This time the State Department was ready and fired off an answer immediately.

Then on Friday Khrushchev sent Eisenhower a note on stopping nuclear tests. Eisenhower answered him Monday. Dulles—when he appeared before his news conference Tuesday—seemed proud Eisenhower had answered so fast: within four days, which included the Easter holidays. Dulles has publicly acknowledged the Soviets have been knocking our propaganda pants off. Even Eisenhower at his news conference last week admitted maybe we could have handled ourselves better.

He tossed out the idea of putting a psychological war expert into the State Department. But Dulles is boss there. He runs it pretty much as a one-man show. And at his news conference Tuesday he brushed aside the Eisenhower idea.

He said this country can't indulge in the kind of propaganda the Soviets use, and went on to explain the State Department's attitude now on the Soviet notes. He said: "I think on the whole that it is important to deal with these things quickly. I think that what we did over the Easter weekend is a demonstration that at least in one respect we are trying to speed up our operations so as not to give the Soviet propaganda line a free run for so long a time as has often been the case in the past."

"I do believe that as a result of experience that we are improving our techniques somewhat... in terms of trying to get our viewpoint more quickly and more effectively."

One question comes to mind: Why has it taken the State Department so long—and how much experience does it need—to realize it's not smart to let the Soviets make propaganda while we hem and haw on what to do?

Spring Program Presented To Deercreek Garden Club

The Deercreek Garden Club met at the Parish House, Thursday evening, April 3rd, with nineteen members and one guest, Mrs. I. Smith Hulse of Route 1, Williamsport, present.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Ted F. Corcoran, who presided during the business session. The roll call and minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Miss Carolyn L. Roehard. The members answered roll call with the response, "My Favorite Bird, Why?"

Mrs. Corcoran announced her nominating committee for the new officers for 1958-59. They are as follows: Mrs. Charles Smiley, Mrs. Russel D. Howard and Mrs. Russell Wardell. The committee will announce the new officers at the next meeting.

An invitation was read from the Asheville Garden Club's open meeting and tea which will be held, April 10th, at 1:30 p. m. in the Asheville Lutheran Church. All members of the Deercreek Garden Club are invited. Guest speakers will be: Mrs. John Woodrow and Mrs. Paul Woods.

An invitation was read from Mrs. Alice Dickinson, Pickaway County Contact Chairman, 209 N. Scioto St., Circleville, Ohio, inviting the officers of the Deercreek Garden Club to a meeting and tea to be held at her home, April 11th from 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

An invitation was read from the Soloqua Garden Club inviting the Deercreek Garden Club to attend an all day meeting featuring a flower arrangement workshop. This meeting will be held in the EUB Parish House, Robtown, Friday, May 9. Registration, 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Vance Hendricks, Grove City, Ohio, will conduct the Workshop. Guests are requested to bring their own containers, flowers, etc. Each member is also asked to bring a sack lunch which will be enjoyed together at the noon hour. Beverage will be served by the Hostess Club. Reservations are not necessary. Mrs. James Hott, Ashville, Ohio, is Program Chairman.

A letter was also read from the Columbus Park of Roses asking the Deercreek Garden Club to sell admission tickets at $1 per family for the entire season. Anyone interested, please contact the Deercreek Garden Club Secretary, Miss Carolyn L. Roehard.

The program leaders for the evening were: Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. Edward Schleich. They used as their topic, "Spring Tonic". Mrs. Wright presented several Easter readings and poems, among them were: "The Fabulous Easter Egg", "Legend of the Easter Egg" and "Legend of the Dogwood".

During the evening, two piano solos by Mrs. Don Schleich were enjoyed. They were: "Visions of the Dance" and "Deep River".

Mrs. Frank Carter told the Club about an Easter Egg which her father had gotten when he was eight years old. This egg is an orchid color and is ninety years old. Mrs. Carter's mother, Mrs. Mary Overly, of near Clarksburg, still has the Easter Egg.

Six table settings and a menu for each table featuring Easter was arranged by twelve members of the Club with ribbons being awarded to the following:

Miss Ilo Stevenson and Mrs. Edna H. Newhouse, first; Mrs. Fred J. Corcoran and Mrs. Ted F. Corcoran, second; Mrs. William D. Radcliff and Miss Carolyn L. Roehard, third; Mrs. I. Smith Hulse was Judge for this affair. A planter arranged by Mrs. Wright was presented to Mrs. Hulse.

Arizona Group To Display New Solar-Powered Home

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Some day this may be the scene in your home: The solar alarm clock buzzes in your bedroom. You get up, check the thermostat to make sure the solar heating system is pumping warm air to offset the winter cold outside. Then you shave with your solar-powered razor.

Meanwhile, your wife makes breakfast on her solar-powered stove, listening to the solar radio. Then you drive off to work in a solar-powered car.

Sounds improbable? Not to the merchants, builders and industrialists who have contributed time and material to the construction of the first solar-heated and solar-cooled house. The Assn. for Applied Solar Energy explains that while there are other solar houses, they don't have integrated cooling systems.

The house is scheduled to go on public display here Sunday.

The solar association is a private organization dedicated to studying and promoting ways of harnessing the sun's power efficiently and economically. Solar energy, it believes, will help answer the future problem of dwindling conventional fuels to power industries and heat homes.

In the rear lawn is buried a

2,000-gallon water tank, one of the key components of the $5,000 solar heating system. The other main essentials are a series of louvers, containing water pipes, located at the front and rear of the house and over the central outdoor court.

Here's how the solar heating system works:

In winter, the louvers are adjusted so their blackened copper sides face upward to catch the sun's rays, which warm the water piped through the louvers. The heated water is pumped back to the storage tank by a conventional pumping system, which also circulates hot air given off by the pipes through a series of underground copper domes. The hot air enters the house through grill-like openings in the floor.

In summer, the louver's aluminum backs are turned toward the sun to throw off heat and the louvers themselves are used as shade. Air flowing from the pumping system is circulated through a refrigerator and the cooled air is sent through the underground domes back into the house. If the water in the tank gets too hot, it is pumped out to an adjacent pool, which acts as a reserve storage tank, for cooling.

Because of the amount of Arizona sunshine, the solar house can supply year round heating and cooling needs. Elsewhere in the northern hemisphere, the solar house would supply less of the heating needs the father it is from the Equator.

And therein lies its biggest drawback at present.

Ohio Power Co. Tells Reason For Tying Rate to Coal Cost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Power Co. of Canton wants to peg charges to its 440,000 customers in 53 counties on the cost of fuel it uses to generate electricity.

The company told the Utilities Commission it would then be able to raise rates of the average residential customer by 18 cents a year every time coal costs advanced 11 cents a ton.

Atty. John G. Ketterer, representing the company, told the commission Tuesday that Ohio Power never has raised rates it charges residential and commercial customers although costs have increased greatly. Coal purchases represent 40 per cent of the company's costs, he said.

The company's assistant manager, George V. Patterson, said it would cost from $300,000 to $500,000 to prepare a detailed inventory and appraisal for the case. The company wishes to substitute other computations.

Patterson and Canton's city solicitor, Leroy Contie Jr., clashed on whether the company's request is for a rate increase.

Contie claims it is. He said that when the price of coal increases by 11 cents a ton, the cost would be passed on to the customer. And he said the company anticipates coal costs will increase. He wondered whether the company can absorb increased costs without passing them on to the customers.

Patterson said the request is not for a rate increase because it would not raise rates now. Under cross-examination he said he thinks coal costs will rise next year.

He added that had residential and consumer rates been pegged to fuel costs during the last 12 months, they would not have risen.

The company already has cost-of-fuel clauses covering the sale of about 75 per cent of its energy. It wants these same clauses for residential and commercial rates.

"We hope the cost of coal won't go up, but we're not foolish enough to think it might not," Patterson said.

The city of Newark has told the commission it opposes the company's request but was unable to send a representative to Tuesday's hearing.

DiSalle Seeks New Mental Care Setup

MARION (AP) — Michael DiSalle, Democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, says Ohio must do more for its mentally ill.

In a campaign address here Tuesday night, DiSalle said the state's immediate concern is to make the most of existing mental health facilities and to "expand our services in the field of treatment and rehabilitation."

He urged additional diagnostic and psychiatric centers. And he called for research into the problem of discovering mental disorders before institutional care is needed.

Ohio University Gets $480,000 Federal Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $480,000 loan to Ohio University for construction of two 2-story apartment buildings was announced by the Community Facilities Administration today.

The buildings will house 48 married students and their families. Estimated cost of the project is $515,000. The college will provide $35,000 of the cost from its own funds.

5 Youngsters Hurt in School Bus Mishap

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — A school bus with six Amish school children aboard went out of control and plunged into a small creek near the neighboring community of Amity Tuesday, injuring five children and the driver.

Three children, Naomi Miller, 11; her brother, Floyd, 7; and Loretta Kurtz, 11, were taken to Memorial Hospital in Marysville where they were reported in fair condition.

The children were the last of nearly 30 who left Plain View Christian Day School in Plain City.

Auto Union, GM Continue Talks

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union set another bargaining session today as negotiators apparently attempted to agree on secondary phases of a new contract before they tackle main issues.

Absence of top negotiators at a 1½ hour session Tuesday indicated the talks centered on what are known as non-economic provisions of the labor contract.

These would include seniority, job classifications and working conditions in the shops.

The talks were resumed Tuesday after a 12-day recess.

2 Stranded On Twelfth Floor Level

CLEVELAND (AP) — What do two men do when they find themselves stranded for seven hours on a platform 120 feet off the ground?

Two window washers who found themselves in that predicament Tuesday flipped their arms and danced around on their 22-foot-long perch while rescuers thought of ways to rescue them.

John Burdecki, 33, and Bill Milecki, 29, who were stranded outside the 12th floor of the new Illuminating Building on Public Square, finally clambered to safety down an 85-foot section steel scaffold. The scaffold was erected on the roof of the seven-story garage at the rear of the building.

The trouble started at 10 a.m. when a short-circuit knocked out the powered platform on which the men were working. The platform dangled from four cables attached to a rolling outrigger on the roof of the modern 22-story building.

The windows in the building do not open. Burdecki and Milecki could have smashed in one of the windows and slipped out that way. It was decided not to break the windows, however, for fear fragments might injure someone in the alley below.

So, the two window washers just waited as the wind whistled about them.

A blanket was lowered from the roof so the men could huddle and keep warm. The rest of the time they hopped around.

They smoked cigarettes and chewed on cigars as they became hungry.

They'll be washing again today — but from inside.

"It's not that we were scared," Burdecki explained. "The platform won't be fixed in time."

Canton Youth Wins Prize in Salesmanship

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A 17-year-old Canton McKinley High School junior set out to sell a half-hour of radio time Tuesday and sold judges on sending him to Spokane, Wash., to compete for a $1,000 scholarship.

Clyde Henry Jr. of (925 Rowland) Canton, a member of Junior Achievement, whose members conduct all phases of their own business as training for future careers, won a regional salesmanship contest.

Clyde competed against 17 other youths from Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan and Western Pennsylvania. The Sales Executive Club of north central Ohio was sponsor.

Clyde will meet four other regional winners in Spokane, Wash., April 29.

Honorable mention went to Becky Graham, a Mansfield Senior High School junior; Joe Spoonster, a Barborton High School junior, and Bruce Fisher, a Jackson, Mich., high school sophomore.

All 17 competitors tried to sell the judges on their particular Junior Achievement business activities.

Fortune Teller Fails To Keep Self Advised

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James Pavy, 35, was a disconsolate fortune teller as he stood in front of his home, regarding his unfortunate fortune.

The house was wrecked by fire. "Seven years a fortune teller," he said, "and I had no warning that this would happen."

Arizona Group To Display New Solar-Powered Home

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Some day this may be the scene in your home:

The solar alarm clock buzzes in your bedroom. You get up, check the thermostat to make sure the solar heating system is pumping warm air to offset the winter cold outside. Then you shave with your solar-powered razor.

Meanwhile, your wife makes breakfast on her solar-powered stove, listening to the solar radio. Then you drive off to work in a solar-powered car.

Sounds improbable? Not to the merchants, builders and industrialists who have contributed time and material to the construction of the first solar-heated and solar-cooled house. The Assn. for Applied Solar Energy explains that while there are other solar houses, they don't have integrated cooling systems.

The house is scheduled to go on public display here Sunday.

The solar association is a private organization dedicated to studying and promoting ways of harnessing the sun's power efficiently and economically. Solar energy, it believes, will help answer the future problem of dwindling conventional fuels to poor industries and heat homes.

Producer Sees Script as Key

Double Oscar Winner Outlines His 'Secret'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — How does Sam Spiegel do it?

The question was a natural one after the chunky producer walked off with his second Oscar in four years. He won for "On the Waterfront" in 1953, "The Bridge on the River Kwai" in 1957.

To find out the answer, I tracked Spiegel down in a rare moment of sitting still. He was in his office at Columbia Studios, surrounded by the seven Oscars won by "Kwai."

"If I have any secret of success, it is in preparing a script," he commented. "That, and finding the right people for the picture. And if the script is good enough, you can get the right people."

Spiegel demonstrated: Alec Guinness didn't want to do "Kwai," changed his mind when he saw the script.

William Holden and Cary Grant vied to do the role of the American in the film, even though both realized it was the secondary part. How did the producer decide between the two film giants?

"It was easy—Bill decided faster," he said. "I sent both of them the script. Bill called me in New York right away and said he'd do it. Cary said he wanted me to come out to California and discuss a few scenes he was concerned about. I took Bill."

It's an old Spiegel trick to tailor his scripts so they will prove irresistible to stars. Marlon Brando first turned down "On the Waterfront." Spiegel reworked the script for a year.

"I invited Marlon to my hotel on a Friday night and gave him the script to read," the producer recalled. "When he finished, we talked about it until early morning. The next day, contracts were started and five days later, we started shooting."

Boy Kidnaped By Mother Is Given to Dad

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Eleven-year-old Butch Brovall was happily back with his father today after 11 months of roaming the country with his divorced mother.

The mother, whose former husband accused her of brainwashing the boy, reluctantly went home alone at the direction of Juvenile Court.

A Red Cross case worker, Lorraine Haulund, was credited with investigating the case and sending the boy to the arms of Air Force Sgt. Charles Brovall.

Her investigation began last March 20 when Mrs. Marion Brovall, 41, went to the Toledo Red Cross office with her son and asked aid in two letters she thought had been directed to her at Fort Wayne, Ind.

In the course of the interview, Mrs. Brovall told Miss Haulund of living in many places over the past months and admitted Butch had been out of school during that period. She also declared that Brovall once had abducted the boy from a Florida boarding home.

Miss Haulund said she noted that while the boy expressed hate for his father, he seemed to fear his mother.

The Red Cross worker decided to do some checking of her own. She learned that the father had been granted custody and the mother had been the one who took the child from the boarding home. Since then, the father and his present wife had spent more than $1,000 trying to locate the child.

In court Monday, Mrs. Brovall drew a 6-month workhouse sentence, suspended by Judge Paul W. Alexander on condition she cooperate and return to her original home in Connecticut.

Voting Record Stands

CREAL SPRINGS, Ill. (AP)—Uncle Jimmie White, 100, kept his 79-year voting record intact Tuesday. He voted Democratic as usual.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 26, a wife and mother, also a former school teacher and graduate of a large university. Married four years, we haven't had entirely smooth sailing, due to my husband's completing law school while both of us worked parttime.

My major concern, however, is a troubled relationship with my widowed mother. I am an only child, given every advantage in an upper middle class family. In addition to material luxuries, my parents and I shared a strong love and affection.

In my second year of teaching, while my husband was in the service, my parents retired and moved to another state, where dad died shortly afterward. I quit my job earlier than planned and stayed with mother nearly two months. Later, she stayed seven weeks with us, when our son was born.

Mother bossed the whole show, disobeyed the pediatrician, rearranged our furniture, contradicted many requests I made, etc. It was very disagreeable. From then on, during visits, and at the time our daughter was born, things got worse. I had asked her to help again, thinking that with past experience and more maturity, I could control the situation and win a more adult status with her. But I failed.

I love her dearly and want her to feel that love; and we appreciate all the help she has given us. But her personal complaints, constant criticism and bossy management of our marriage and the children, while here, seem unbearable.

When I have discussed my feelings with her, or my husband tries to talk things over, she feels unloved or unwanted, and threatens to leave at once, rather than "interfere" (her word). How can we achieve a middle ground? What can I do immediately? We live one thousand miles apart, so mediation is difficult—even if close advisers could grasp the problem. The trouble occurs only during visits.

C.J.

DEAR C.J.: You say that your mother is still sensitive to your father's death, and probably continues to treat you as a child to compensate for that loss, or as an emotional outlet.

In other words, she has great difficulty adjusting to her changed circumstances as a lone widow, and to her changing relationship with you, since you've left youth behind and become an adult, with new commitments as a wife and mother.

Unfortunately, she is still geared obstinately to past performance as Queen Bee in your affairs. In present association with you, she is trying blindly to make time stand still. Or even to turn back the clock many years—to a heyday in her life when you filially subscribed to her views as a matter of course, and entrusted your happiness to her supervision, in all things.

The bedrock truth is, if she is to enjoy a loving-and-giving experience with your household, on a reciprocity scale, she will have to accommodate the realities of the here-and-now.

As for how to help her—first and important, don't be soft in dealing with her maladjustment to the proprieties of the new situation. Take the lead in giving her a wholesome respect for "What is." Be firm in establishing the proper alignment of authority in your household—with your husband and yourself—the managerial team; and she the beloved but non-voting associate member of the family circle, during her visits. (Non-voting in policy matters.)

To the extent that you seem apologetic and suffering when obliged to go contrary to her bossy ideas, to that extent you will hurt her feelings. Sentimentality is infectious. A matter-of-fact attitude is healthier for all concerned.

Take for granted your indisputable right to rule the roost your way (so long as it is a civilized way), in your domain. That shunts her to the sidelines automatically, and instills respect for your maturing strength. Your principal error, thus far, is in being emotionally weak and dependent, as a daughter; and childishly dismayed by her displeasure. Evidently she is a talented browbeater, in a (theoretically) ladylike way.

Study "Their Mothers' Daughters" (Lippincott) by Drs. Edward A. Strecker and Vincent T. Lathbury, to get the pitch of momism and the remedies for it.

M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels only through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

From then on, during visits, and at the time our daughter was born, things got worse. I had asked her to help again, thinking that with past experience and more maturity, I could control the situation and win a more adult status with her. But I failed.

I love her dearly and want her to feel that love; and we appreciate all the help she has given us. But her personal complaints, constant criticism and bossy management of our marriage and the children, while here, seem unbearable.

When I have discussed my feelings with her, or my husband tries to talk things over, she feels unloved or unwanted, and threatens to leave at once, rather than "interfere" (her word). How can we achieve a middle ground? What can I do immediately? We live one thousand miles apart, so mediation is difficult—even if close advisers could grasp the problem. The trouble occurs only during visits.

C.J.

DEAR C.J.: You say that your mother is still sensitive to your father's death, and probably continues to treat you as a child to compensate for that loss, or as an emotional outlet.

In other words, she has great difficulty adjusting to her changed circumstances as a lone widow, and to her changing relationship with you, since you've left youth behind and become an adult, with new commitments as a wife and mother.

Unfortunately, she is still geared obstinately to past performance as Queen Bee in your affairs. In present association with you, she is trying blindly to make time stand still. Or even to turn back the clock many years—to a heyday in her life when you filially subscribed to her views as a matter of course, and entrusted your happiness to her supervision, in all things.

The bedrock truth is, if she is to enjoy a loving-and-giving experience with your household, on a reciprocity scale, she will have to accommodate the realities of the here-and-now.

As for how to help her—first and important, don't be soft in dealing with her maladjustment to the proprieties of the new situation. Take the lead in giving her a wholesome respect for "What is." Be firm in establishing the proper alignment of authority in your household—with your husband and yourself—the managerial team; and she the beloved but non-voting associate member of the family circle, during her visits. (Non-voting in policy matters.)

To the extent that you seem apologetic and suffering when obliged to go contrary to her bossy ideas, to that extent you will hurt her feelings. Sentimentality is infectious. A matter-of-fact attitude is healthier for all concerned.

Take for granted your indisputable right to rule the roost your way (so long as it is a civilized way), in your domain. That shunts her to the sidelines automatically, and instills respect for your maturing strength. Your principal error, thus far, is in being emotionally weak and dependent, as a daughter; and childishly dismayed by her displeasure. Evidently she is a talented browbeater, in a (theoretically) ladylike way.

Unionists Face 'Lockout' by State Solons

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A crowd of 4,000 jobless unionists lobbying for emergency help from the state legislature ran into closed doors Tuesday. A union leader called it a lockout.

State Rep. George M. Van Peursem, Republican House speaker, replied that denial of House floor privileges was only normal procedure under the circumstances.

The sergeants-at-arms who closed the heavy wooden doors on the swarming unionists were enforcing normal House rules, he said, and without special direction. The few with a specific invitation from a legislator were admitted.

August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, looked at it differently. "At no time have there ever been locked doors on the legislature to prevent the people from talking to their elected representatives," he said.

He also criticized the Senate and House for taking a recess most of the day, leaving many legislators nowhere to be found when the union crowds showed up. He laid the blame on Republican majorities in both chambers.

A controversial bill concerning emergency unemployment compensation benefits for persons who have exhausted regular eligibility is pending.

Monroe Stitches and Bakettes By Judy Dennis

Mrs. Loring Stier and Mrs. Howard Haller, advisors, supervised the reorganization meeting of the Monroe Stitches and Bakettes. Officers elected were Sue Dennis, president; Donnarae Hanawalt, vice president; Judy Dennis, secretary; Linda Bryant, treasurer; Jeanie Neff and Janice Bryant, news reporters; Judy Dennis, safety leader; Jeanette Brigner, health leader; and Jo Ann Seibel, recreation.

On March 26, the club met in the Monroe School auditorium in regular session with Sally Fullin leading the 4-H pledge. Dues were discussed and each person is to pay one dollar for dues by May 1 to be a member.

Betty Beathard, Jeanette Brigner, Jeanie Neff, Judy Dennis and Sue Dennis were appointed to act on the constitution committee.

The finance committee is Sue Dennis, Linda Bryant, Betty Riley, Carolyn Wright, Patty Blankenship, Donnarae Hanawalt and Judy Dennis.

Several useful household hints were read by the club members. Color combinations and projects were discussed by club members. Project sheets were passed out.

Sue Dennis volunteered to be hostess for an officers' meeting to amend constitution and plan program for the year.

Bloomfield Busy Bodies By Susan George
The Bloomfield Busy Bodies Club reorganized April 7 during a meeting at the school. Mrs. Chester Dyke volunteered to serve as advisor for the group whose members decided to take sewing as well as cooking projects.

Officers and chairman elected were Mary Young, president; Sandra Miller, vice president; Donna Miller, secretary; Verna Lee Reynolds, treasurer; Carolyn Noggle and Helen Brown, recreation; Janet Acord, health and safety; and Susan George, news reporter.

Cheryl Webster and Verna Lee Reynolds volunteered to serve as hospitality chairmen for the next meeting which will be at 3:45 p.m. April 15, at the Bloomfield School.

Duval Go Getters By Job Peters
The March meeting of the Duval Go Getters 4-H club was held at the home of Edwin Dountz. The slogan for this meeting was health and safety.

Marty Young gave a health demonstration on how to take care of your eyes. Cindy Young gave one on what to keep in your medicine chest. Judy Moss gave the correct way to brush your teeth. Sara Moss, a nursing student at Ohio State University, gave a short talk on body health and nutrition. We discussed several of the projects which our club would undertake in the coming year.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Ned Rader on April 22.

First Year Tractor Club By Bill Russell
The third meeting of the First Year Tractor Club was held April 2. We had one new member, Larry Arnold, which makes 14 members in the club.

The meeting was about packing, greasing, and oiling of the tractor. Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. April 9.

Producer Sees Script as Key

Double Oscar Winner Outlines His 'Secret'

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — How does Sam Spiegel do it?

The question was a natural one after the chunky producer walked off with his second Oscar in four years. He won for "On the Waterfront" in 1953, "The Bridge on the River Kwai" in 1957.

To find out the answer, I tracked Spiegel down in a rare moment of sitting still. He was in his office at Columbia Studios, surrounded by the seven Oscars won by "Kwai."

"If I have any secret of success, it is in preparing a script," he commented. "That, and finding the right people for the picture. And if the script is good enough, you can get the right people."

Spiegel demonstrated: Alec Guinness didn't want to do "Kwai," changed his mind when he saw the script.

William Holden and Cary Grant vied to do the role of the American in the film, even though both realized it was the secondary part. How did the producer decide between the two film giants?

"It was easy—Bill decided faster," he said. "I sent both of them the script. Bill called me in New York right away and said he'd do it. Cary said he wanted me to come out to California and discuss a few scenes he was concerned about. I took Bill."

It's an old Spiegel trick to tailor his scripts so they will prove irresistible to stars. Marlon Brando first turned down "On the Waterfront." Spiegel reworked the script for a year.

"I invited Marlon to my hotel on a Friday night and gave him the script to read," the producer recalled. "When he finished, we talked about it until early morning. The next day, contracts were started and five days later, we started shooting."

Boy Kidnaped By Mother Is Given to Dad

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Eleven-year-old Butch Brovall was happily back with his father today after 11 months of roaming the country with his divorced mother.

The mother, whose former husband accused her of brainwashing the boy, reluctantly went home alone at the direction of Juvenile Court.

A Red Cross case worker, Lorraine Haulund, was credited with investigating the case and sending the boy to the arms of Air Force Sgt. Charles Brovall.

Her investigation began last March 20 when Mrs. Marion Brovall, 41, went to the Toledo Red Cross office with her son and asked aid in two letters she thought had been directed to her at Fort Wayne, Ind.

In the course of the interview, Mrs. Brovall told Miss Haulund of living in many places over the past months and admitted Butch had been out of school during that period. She also declared that Brovall once had abducted the boy from a Florida boarding home.

Miss Haulund said she noted that while the boy expressed hate for his father, he seemed to fear his mother.

The Red Cross worker decided to do some checking of her own. She learned that the father had been granted custody and the mother had been the one who took the child from the boarding home. Since then, the father and his present wife had spent more than $1,000 trying to locate the child.

In court Monday, Mrs. Brovall drew a 6-month workhouse sentence, suspended by Judge Paul W. Alexander on condition she co-operate and return to her original home in Connecticut.

Voting Record Stands

CREAL SPRINGS, Ill. (AP)—Uncle Jimmie White, 100, kept his 79-year voting record intact Tuesday. He voted Democratic as usual.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 26, a wife and mother, also a former school teacher and graduate of a large university. Married four years, we haven't had entirely smooth sailing, due to my husband's completing law school while both of us worked parttime.

My major concern, however, is a troubled relationship with my widowed mother. I am an only child, given every advantage in an upper middle class family. In addition to material luxuries, my parents and I shared a strong love and affection.

In my second year of teaching, while my husband was in the service, my parents retired and moved to another state, where dad died shortly afterward. I quit my job earlier than planned and stayed with mother nearly two months. Later, she stayed seven weeks with us, when our son was born.

Mother bossed the whole show, disheveled the pediatrician, rearranged our furniture, contradicted many requests I made, etc. It was very disagreeable. From then on, during visits, and at the time our daughter was born, things got worse. I had asked her to help again, thinking that with past experience and more maturity, I could control the situation and win a more adult status with her. But I failed.

I love her dearly and want her to feel that love; and we appreciate all the help she has given us. But her personal complaints, constant criticism and bossy management of our marriage and the children, while here, seem unbearable.

Coal Grove Sewer Plant Due for Study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State sanitary engineers will check to see if a sewage treatment system needed by the village of Coal Grove in Lawrence County can be built at less cost to residents there. The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board today continued until its June meeting a violation hearing for the community. The engineers will find out whether federal funds will be available to pay for part of the cost and whether the total cost can be reduced by eliminating some sewers.

J. B. Collier, village solicitor, said the overall cost of $503,000 is considered too high. The sewage treatment plant alone would cost $140,000 and sewers would cost the difference.

In the past, villages needing financial aid have been able to obtain up to 30 per cent of the cost of sewage plants from the federal government.

The board gave the city of Warren until its next meeting May 13 to say when it will be able to advertise for bids for a sewage treatment plant. Warren's permit runs to July 15. Warren now has hired a financial agent to work out financing details.

The board took no action on a resolution requesting state funds so the board could provide financial counsel to smaller communities which need such help. That was because the board's chairman, Dr. Ralph Dwork, was out of the city.

Tigers Blast FH In 9-2 Contest

Tight pitching and some good solid hitting gave the Circleville Tigers a 9-2 decision over Franklin Heights yesterday at Ted Lewis Park.

Mike Hosler hurled six innings allowed only two singles, walked four and fanned 13. Duane Dean finished up by permitting one hit and walking one in his one-inning stint.

Hitting honors again went to Harry Strawser, the Tigers' right-fielder and clean-up hitter. Strawser put the Tigers in the lead in the first inning with a long home run with a mate aboard and then doubled in the sixth to drive in another run. Hosler also had two hits for Circleville, both singles.

An example of the pitching Circleville has been getting is shown in the fact that in four games Tiger pitchers have given up a total of eight runs—an average of two per game.

THIS win gives CHS a 3-1 record and a 1-0 mark in the league. The Tigers are after their third straight loop championship.

In yesterday's game, two were out in the first inning before the Tigers got going. Hosler drew a walk with two down and then Strawser blasted a pitch far over the left fielder's head for a home-run.

John Wright drew another base on balls, stole second, went to third on an error and then stole home for the Tigers' third run of the inning.

The score went to 5-0 in the bottom of the second when Circleville put together three hits good for a pair of runs.

Jim Woods led off the inning with a long triple down the left field line. The next Tiger fanned, but Cal Ellis drove in Woods with a sharp single to left. Ellis moved to second on an error and then scored on another single by Hosler.

Another Circleville run came across in the third when Wright led off with a single, stole second and then scored on an error.

MEANWHILE, Hosler had retired the first nine Franklin Heights batters, six of them on strikes.

But in the fourth, the visitors suddenly came to life. Ames, leading off, singled through the box and Hosler walked Haderly. Both moved up on a passed ball and then Ruzicka sent the two with a pop single to right. This was the only serious FH threat of the game.

Circleville scored one run in the fifth without benefit of a hit and then added two more in the sixth. Successive blows by Hosler and Strawser turned the trick in the sixth, Strawser's hit being a line-drive double down the left field line.

Hosler lost some of his control in the fifth and sixth innings because of extremely cold weather and Dean was brought in to pitch the seventh.

Circleville will play Chillicothe here today, the game starting at 4 p.m. All S.C.O.L. games this season will start at 4:30 p.m.

DON Rowland will be on the mound as the Tigers try to avenge their only loss which came at the hands the Cavaliers.

The next s.c.o.l. action is slated Friday when the Tigers travel to Hillsboro.

Limping Celts Await Battle With Hawks

BOSTON (AP)—The injury-plagued Boston Celtics and the healthy St. Louis Hawks, all even at two games apiece, meet in the vital fifth contest tonight in their best of seven series for the National Basketball Assn. championship.

The Celtics, crippled by the loss of Big Bill Russell and minor injuries to other key players, hope determination and hustle will pay off as in the fourth game at St. Louis Saturday.

The Hawks, stung by their home court loss, mapped a more relaxed style of play.

"We were pressing too much so as not to make mistakes and the Celtics couldn't do anything wrong in the last game," St. Louis Coach Alex Hannum said. "We'll be a different team tonight."

Russell, the 6-10 former All America, has been declared through for the playoffs because of an ankle injury suffered in the third game at St. Louis.

His top replacement, veteran Arnie Risen, was ailing with a sinus attack. Risen missed a 90-minute practice Tuesday, but is counted upon to carry a heavy load tonight.

Bob Cousy still is shaking off the effects of a collision in Saturday's game, while backcourt mate Bill Sharman was limping from an ankle injury.

Chuck Churn Trying For Berth with Tribe

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Chuck Churn, a 28-year-old right-hander purchased two weeks ago from the Boston Red Sox, is making a strong bid for a spot on the Cleveland Indians' relief corps.

The sidearm, whose full name is Clarence Nottingham Churn, tossed three scoreless innings in relief against the San Francisco Giants here Tuesday. He gave up only one hit and struck out four. He has looked sharp in almost all his appearances this spring.

Tiger Thinclads Earn 61-57 Decision at Franklin Heights

Eight first places proved to be enough as Circleville High's track squad posted a 61-57 win at Franklin Heights yesterday.

Speed specialist Junior Denny paved the way for CHS with three firsts. His winning efforts were in the 100-Yard dash, the high jump and the broad jump. He also came in second in the 220-yard dash.

Denny raced the 100 dash in 10.4, high jumped 5' 2" and made a mighty leap of 21' 1" in the broad jump.

Distance man Bill Johnson, brought home two firsts for Circleville in the mile and 880 yard runs. He did the mile in 5:17.9 and the 880 in 2:21.1.

JOHN Hampp captured first place in the 120-yard high hurdles with a time of 19.75 and Larry Hannahs earned second in the same event.

Hannahs also won the shotput with a toss of 37' 8". Bill Perkins earned third spot.

The Tigers' other first was in the pole vault with Walt Arledge and John Reid ending in a tie. Both vaulted 8' 4".

Coaches Tom Bennett and John Current said heavy winds yesterday appeared to handicap the locals, especially in the pole vault. Current, working with the vaulters this season, said the whipping breeze made it difficult for the Tigers to get across the bar.

The win yesterday gives the local thinclads two wins in a row. The other victory was a 59-58 decision over Logan last week.

The Tigers open South Central Ohio League competition Thursday when they travel to Washington C. H. for a meet.

Washington Catcher Leads Hit Parade In Win over Redlegs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bespaced Clint Courtney may not haul the Washington Senators out of the American League basement this year, but he certainly appears set to do himself proud.

The Senators have many weaknesses, but catching is not one of them. In fact, Courtney, who hit .309 or better twice since coming to the majors in 1951, had to share the Senator catching duties with Lou Berberet last year.

At the moment, though, Courtney is the No. 1 man. With a .435 batting average, he is Washington's leading spring hitter.

Courtney's big trouble is that he does not hit a long ball. He had half a dozen home runs last year, and that was his fattest production.

He connected for one in Tuesday's 10-3 Washington victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs, and also chipped in with three singles and stole a base. Pedro Ramos went six innings and blanked the Redlegs at Richmond, Ind.

Milwaukee left fielder Wes Covington scored the winning run in the 13th in the Braves' victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers at Austin, Tex., but it cost him dearly.

He raced for the plate on Phil Paine's punt, and collided with catcher Rube Walker. He jammed his knee in the pileup and might be out for a week, and thus miss the opener against Cincinnati.

Mickey Vernon got the big blow in the Cleveland Indians 11-7 triumph over the San Francisco Giants at Corpus Christi, Tex. He slammed a bases-loaded home run in the first inning.

In other games, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the New York Yankees 3-2 at Charlotte, N.C.; the Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 at Wichita, Kan.; the Chicago Cubs defeated the Baltimore Orioles 6-5 at Scottsdale, Ariz., and Mexico City of the Mexican League turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3 in a night game south of the border.

Whitey Ford became the first New York pitcher to go all the way but it was for a losing cause. Harry Anderson hit a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning, scoring Chico Fernandez, and that was the ball game.

The White Sox loaded the bases in the seventh inning. Card first baseman Irv Noren dropped a double play ball permitting the tying and winning run to score.

The Cubs scored the winning run in the 10th inning against the Orioles on Bobby Adams' double and Dale Long's single.

Pedro Ramirez, a 28-year-old Mexico City pitcher, held the Pirates in check except for a three-run homer by catcher Danny Kravitz in the ninth.

George Brunet pitched five shutouts for Little Rock in the Southern Assn. last season. This spring Kansas City optioned him to Buffalo of the International League.

Tigers Blast FH In 9-2 Contest

Tight pitching and some good solid hitting gave the Circleville Tigers a 9-2 decision over Franklin Heights yesterday at Ted Lewis Park.

Mike Hosier hurled six innings allowed only two singles, walked four and fanned 13. Duane Dean finished up by permitting one hit and walking one in his one-inning stint.

Hitting honors again went to Harry Strawser, the Tigers' right-fielder and clean-up hitter. Strawser put the Tigers in the lead in the first inning with a long home run with a mate aboard and then doubled in the sixth to drive in another run. Hosier also had two hits for Circleville, both singles.

An example of the pitching Circleville has been getting is shown in the fact that in four games Tiger pitchers have given up a total of eight runs—an average of two per game.

THIS win gives CHS a 3-1 record and a 1-0 mark in the league. The Tigers are after their third straight loop championship.

In yesterday's game, two were out in the first inning before the Tigers got going. Hosier drew a walk with two down and then Strawser blasted a pitch far over the left fielder's head for a home-run.

John Wright drew another base on balls, stole second, went to third on an error and then stole home for the Tigers' third run of the inning.

The score went to 5-0 in the bottom of the second when Circleville put together three hits good for a pair of runs.

Jim Woods led off the inning with a long triple down the left field line. The next Tiger fanned, but Cal Ellis drove in Woods with a sharp single to left. Ellis moved to second on an error and then scored on another single by Hosier.

Another Circleville run came across in the third when Wright led off with a single, stole second and then scored on an error.

MEANWHILE, Hosier had retired the first nine Franklin Heights batters, six of them on strikes.

But in the fourth, the visitors suddenly came to life. Ames, leading off, singled through the box and Hosier walked Haderly. Both moved up on a passed ball and then Ruzicka sent the two with a pop single to right. This was the only serious FH threat of the game.

Circleville scored one run in the fifth without benefit of a hit and then added two more in the sixth. Successive blows by Hosier and Strawser turned the trick in the sixth, Strawser's hit being a line-drive double down the left field line.

Hosier lost some of his control in the fifth and sixth innings because of extremely cold weather and Dean was brought in to pitch the seventh.

Circleville will play Chillicothe here today, the game starting at 4 p.m. All S.C.O.L. games this season will start at 4:30 p.m.

DON Rowland will be on the mound as the Tigers try to avenge their only loss which came at the hands of the Cavaliers.

The next s.c.o.l. action is slated Friday when the Tigers travel to Hillsboro.

New Yorkers Edging Up in ABC Tourney

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Two more New York quintets showed up today in the top standings of the American Bowling Congress.

The Delco Appliance Division GMC of Rochester took second place in the open team division Tuesday after putting together a 2946 effort. Herb Hazell, 52, an experienced, bolstered the performance with a 640 series.

John Zablutny, a highway superintendent from Buffalo, moved into fourth place in the same division with 1022-978-920-2920. James Reeves, 30, a boilermaker, posted a 222-235-204-661 series to blot an otherwise mediocre performance.

The Ben Duthler's of Grand Rapids, Mich., still place the open division with a 2975 they stacked up April 2.

Earl Corino of Scotia, N. Y., maneuvered into third place in the all-events category early in the day when he accumulated 1854 pins for the entire nine-game route. Corino, who tosses a backup ball, shot series of 622, 608 and 624 in assembling his aggregate.

John Germann Jr. of Albany, N.Y., was only three strikes short of Corino and fell into fourth place with 1851.

The first of bowling's major league teams to appear in the 55th ABC will trot out on the lanes tonight. Bill Lillard, the only man ever to win three ABC titles in one tournament, will be the feature attraction as the Bombers of Chicago take their shot at the $2,500 first-place money.

Covington Tagged As Key to Braves

NEW YORK (AP) — The player who tipped the scales in Milwaukee's favor last year was a comparative newcomer named Wes Covington. That's the considered opinion of Birdie Tebbetts, Cincinnati Redleg manager.

"The guy who made the Milwaukee club last year was Covington," Tebbetts said. "He gave them that extra big bat they needed."

Navy Secretary Is Proud Of His 'New Gates Plan'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thomas S. Gates Jr., who rounded out his first year as secretary of the Navy April 1, pointed with pride today to what he termed the "new Gates plan."

To football fans the Gates plan was the name applied to a de-emphasis of the gridiron game at the University of Pennsylvania in the mid-1930s.

That was when Gates' father, the late Thomas S. Gates, was president of the university.

"Today my colleagues call the reorganization of the Navy in my first eight months in office the new Gates plan," Gates said.

That reorganization has seen substantial changes in America's carrier has become the capital ship of the Navy, the last of the powerful sea forces. The aircraft battleships in mothballs and priority has been given to construction of nuclear-powered submarines and missile experiments.

Gates envisions the Navy of the future as being largely underwater, with missiles launched from nuclear-powered undersea craft.

"Construction of 27 nuclear submarines has been authorized," he said, but noted that the transition is being accomplished in an orderly manner.

The Navy must be prepared for anything from a cold war to a general war to a limited war, he said.

The old battleship, long the pride of the fleet, has lost its usefulness, Gates believes.

"The cruiser has proved to be a better launching platform for missiles," Gates said, "and is less expensive to maintain."

Gates, born April 10, 1906, will be 52 Thursday. Tall and apparently physically fit, he looks forward to the day when he will leave his job as secretary.

"It's been an interesting, hard experience," said Gates, "but it is not a life I would want to live forever."

Gates came to Washington as undersecretary of the Navy in 1953 and with nearly five years behind him believes he has had adequate experience. He said he originally intended spending about three years here, but still has no intention of resigning soon.

A captain in the Naval Reserve, Gates served in both the Atlantic and the Pacific in World War II.

'Fair Lady' Award Presented To Girls for Good Grooming

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Beauty Editor

Keep your face clean, girls, and you may win a prize. Your school may take a leaf from girls of Washington Irving High School, and elect you "Fair Lady."

That title just went to four girls for observing a good grooming code devised by their schoolmates. The idea originated a couple of months ago when students were encouraged to draw up the code, spruce up their appearance, and choose one girl from each class as fair lady of the group. The faculty's theory was that a girl who takes pride in her personal appearance will earn good conduct merits.

The code was divided into three parts: (1) Personal cleanliness — daily bath, clean hair, use of deodorant, and socks washed daily. (2) Neatness—shoes kept polished, heels straight, nails manicured and clothing kept in repair. (3) Attractiveness—good posture, walking with head high, sitting up tall in class, conservative use of cosmetics and perfume.

It turned out there were 67 fair ladies in the student body of 3,500, a job for the judges—15 girls on the student committee and 6 faculty members. But four were finally chosen, and good grooming laurels went to Doris Gallagher, Anne Baranek, Joan Mestrovich and Patricia Psychogios, chosen as the "Four Fair Ladies." They received awards—American beauty roses, a beauty kit, and a string of pearls, presented by stage and screen star, Madeleine Carroll, who reminded the girls that they should "never underestimate the importance of being a woman."

That's a thought dungeared-clad girls might mull over. If you want to be an attractive woman, now's the time to stress femininity. Miss Carroll urged the students to remain feminine as they grow into womanhood, because it is not as far off as it seems.

"Today's teen-agers are not a breed apart," she says "but young adults facing the most confusing set of values any generation has known." She stressed that inner beauty and pleasant attitudes towards associates are as important as outward appearance, if we are to project true femininity.

Even the girls who lost the race to be fair ladies profited from the experience. One pretty teen-ager remarked: We realize now that good grooming should be practiced all the time, not just when you're going somewhere special.

Another girl felt that "good grooming should start at home, with mother." She has a point there, mom.

3-Minute Cancer Test Said Success

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A three-minute test for cancer, which flashes red for danger and green for safety, is being tried out here.

More than 4,000 persons have been tested so far. The test's originator estimates it is wrong in no more than 3 to 5 per cent of the cases.

Dr. Ludwig von Bertalanffy, who developed the procedure, told about its early trials in a meeting with science writers touring research projects sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Among 700 women suspected of having cancer of the cervix, or neck, of the womb, the test found 58 cases indicating cancer and 57 of these turned out to have malignancies, Dr. Bertalanffy said.

Among 1,100 other women picked at random, who showed no outward indication of cervic cancer, it identified four as having malignancies and eight others as being suspected of the disease.

Dr. Bertalanffy, who did the work at Mt. Sinai Hospital here, said the procedure is inexpensive and can be used in a doctor's office. In expert hands, an exam can be made in three minutes.

The tests, however, yield only what physicians call provisional judgments. But it can single out the suspicious cases and leave the final decision for established procedures.

Dart Pierces Skull, But Boy, 8, Is Unhurt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Gary Fisher, 8, and a playmate were throwing a steel-pointed dart at a target when a toss went wide. The dart stabbed a quarter-inch deep into Gary's skull.

"There wasn't any pain," Gary said. His mother couldn't pull the dart out. She took him to a hospital, where the dart was removed.

There was no brain damage, a physician said.

400 Persons Seeking Jobs In Circleville

More than 400 Pickaway County residents are unemployed at the present time according to Emil E. Yerian, Ohio State Employment Service representative.

Registered with the Circleville Unemployment office are persons seeking jobs in the professional line, sales field, domestic, skilled, semi-skilled and unskilled labor.

There are also several persons seeking farm work and Yerian is hoping that farmers who are in need of spring help will call his office for assistance. He has men who will work by the day, week, or month.

According to Yerian, no order for help is too small for his office to fill. He is in Circleville with an office force every Thursday from 9 a. m. till 3 p. m. on the second floor of the Memorial Hall. The phone number is 329-L.

Fat Tax Aid Fibs To Pay Reducing Bill

NEW YORK (AP)—A woman accused of a $2,394 income tax fraud while employed by the Internal Revenue Service is quoted as saying she did it because she weighed 249 pounds and needed the money to reduce by hypnosis.

She lost only 10 pounds.

The woman, Miss Edith T. Pikely, 35, is accused of submitting the same claim 11 times for a $318 refund on her 1955 taxes and of collecting $2,394 from several of the claims. She was employed as a key punch operator by the Revenue Service in 1956.

The story came out Tuesday in Federal District Court in Brooklyn, where Miss Pikely was released pending trial.

Miss Frances T. Wolff, an assistant United States attorney, said Miss Pikely told her she made the false claims to get money for medical expenses in a reducing program. She was quoted as saying her physician used hypnosis to control her appetite, but it didn't do much good.

Miss Wolff said the defendant submitted one legitimate claim and 10 false ones in the early part of 1956 and resigned her job shortly thereafter.

If convicted, Miss Pikely could be sentenced to up to five years or fined $10,000, or both.

Modern Humor Like Ancient Greeks'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—When things were bleak in ancient Greece, and laughter was the best medicine, the Greeks had the words for it. We are laughing at the same words today.

There are no records to indicate whether ancient Greek after-dinner speakers began their talks, "A funny thing happened to me on the way to the Parthenon . . ."

But there are records of ancient Greek jokes, and these are collected in a new book written by Dr. Albert Rapp, professor of classical languages at the University of Tennessee.

"The ancient Greeks and Joe Miller" was printed in a special limited edition for the Roxburgh Club of San Francisco.

"If you were to read the stories of this joke book, your immediate surprise would probably be to meet that very familiar and nowadays threadbare character, the absent-minded professor," Rapp observed.

Aristotle may have asked Plato if he'd heard the one about the professor who was invited to a wedding banquet. When it came time to leave, he said to the groom: "Good luck, and may you have many more."

A stock character of Greek jesters was the braggart. For instance: "A braggart, walking in the market place, saw his servant, who had just come in from the country. The braggart called out: 'Hello! How goes it on my sleep ranch?' The servant periled: 'One sheep is lying down, asleep. The other is standing up.'"

And this one about gabby barbers.

Quoth the bard: "A wit was asked once by a chattering barber: 'How shall I cut your hair?' The wit replied: 'In silence.'"

The story came out Tuesday in Federal District Court in Brooklyn, where Miss Pikely was released pending trial.

Miss Frances T. Wolff, an assistant United States attorney, said Miss Pikely told her she made the false claims to get money for medical expenses in a reducing program. She was quoted as saying her physician used hypnosis to control her appetite, but it didn't do much good.

Miss Wolff said the defendant submitted one legitimate claim and 10 false ones in the early part of 1956 and resigned her job shortly thereafter.

If convicted, Miss Pikely could be sentenced to up to five years or fined $10,000, or both.

Modern Humor Like Ancient Greeks'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—When things were bleak in ancient Greece, and laughter was the best medicine, the Greeks had the words for it. We are laughing at the same words today.

There are no records to indicate whether ancient Greek after-dinner speakers began their talks, "A funny thing happened to me on the way to the Parthenon . . ."

But there are records of ancient Greek jokes, and these are collected in a new book written by Dr. Albert Rapp, professor of classical languages at the University of Tennessee.

"The ancient Greeks and Joe Miller" was printed in a special limited edition for the Roxburgh Club of San Francisco.

"If you were to read the stories of this joke book, your immediate surprise would probably be to meet that very familiar and nowadays threadbare character, the absent-minded professor," Rapp observed.

Aristotle may have asked Plato to if he'd heard the one about the professor who was invited to a wedding banquet. When it came time to leave, he said to the groom: "Good luck, and may you have many more."

A stock character of Greek jesters was the braggart. For instance: "A braggart, walking in the market place, saw his servant, who had just come in from the country. The braggart called out: 'Hello! How goes it on my sheep ranch?' The servant perked: 'One sheep is lying down, asleep. The other is standing up.'"

And this one about gabby barbers.

Quoth the bard: "A wit was asked once by a chattering barber: 'How shall I cut your hair?'"

The wit replied: "In silence."

'Fair Lady' Award Presented To Girls for Good Grooming

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Beauty Editor

Keep your face clean, girls, and you may win a prize. Your school may take a leaf from girls of Washington Irving High School, and elect you "Fair Lady."

That title just went to four girls for observing a good grooming code devised by their schoolmates. The idea originated a couple of months ago when students were encouraged to draw up the code, spruce up their appearance, and choose one girl from each class as fair lady of the group. The faculty's theory was that a girl who takes pride in her personal appearance will earn good conduct merits.

The code was divided into three parts: (1) Personal cleanliness — daily bath, clean hair, use of deodorant, and socks washed daily. (2) Neatness—shoes kept polished, heels straight, nails manicured and clothing kept in repair. (3) Attractiveness—good posture, walking with head high, sitting up tall in class, conservative use of cosmetics and perfume.

It turned out there were 67 fair ladies in the student body of 3,500, a job for the judges—15 girls on the student committee and 6 faculty members. But four were finally chosen, and good grooming laurels went to Doris Gallagher, Anne Baranek, Joan Mestrovich and Patricia Psychogios, chosen as the "Four Fair Ladies." They received awards—American beauty roses, a beauty kit, and a string of pearls, presented by stage and screen star, Madeleine Carroll, who reminded the girls that they should "never underestimate the importance of being a woman."

That's a thought dungaree-clad girls might mull over. If you want to be an attractive woman, now's the time to stress femininity. Miss Carroll urged the students to remain feminine as they grow into womanhood, because it is not as far off as it seems.

"Today's teen-agers are not a breed apart," she says "but young adults facing the most confusing set of values any generation has known." She stressed that inner beauty and pleasant attitudes towards associates are as important as outward appearance, if we are to project true femininity.

Even the girls who lost the race to be fair ladies profited from the experience. One pretty teen-ager remarked: We realize now that good grooming should be practiced all the time, not just when you're going somewhere special.

Another girl felt that "good grooming should start at home, with mother." She has a point there, mom.
